MONEY MARKET.

Monday, June 1-6 P. M. Monday, June 1—6 P. M.

The market was heavy this morning, and prices fell off a fraction. Harlem declined 1, Norwich and Worcester 1, Reading 1, Reading Railroad Bonds 1, Long laland 1, Farmers' Loan 1. Vicksburg went up 1, and Morris Canal closed firm at Saturday's prices. At the Second Board a further decline took place in Harlem, and prices at me close were very much depressed. The sales were only to a limited extent.

A government specie draft for $400,000 made its ap-pearance in Wall street to-day, and the amount will be made up by the deposit banks of this city. This specie is intended for shipment to New Orleans via the Missis-sippi river. We may look for drafts of this kind very fresippi river. We may look for drafts of this kind very frequently, and the surplus on deposit here will, at this rate, be repidly reduced. The revenue from customs collected at this port, for the month of May, amounted to $1,273,-107 63. The appropriations made by Congress for the Mexican war, amount to twelve millions of dollars being the whole of the government surplus. A very short time will senice, at the rate of expenditure experienced within the past month, to use up that amount, but Congress was dear it appears before the treasure becomes eletely bankrupt, to pass an act authorizing the issue of reasury notes, which would relieve the money market, and furnish a valuable mode of making remittances from ring the Secretary of the Treasury to issue treasury , bearing a nominal rate of interest, for twenty mil-of dollars, would enable the government to carry on

It will be observed that the value of imports for the past month has been quite limited. For the rest of the season there will, probably, be a great deficiency compared

The first effect of a rupture in our peaceful relation with foreign powers, upon commercial matters, has been felt in the South and West, and business of all kinds in these sections has been completely prostrated. Confi-dence has been completely destroyed, and the greatest depression exists. The producers of the interior are afraid to forward their supplies to the Southern ports in consequence of the numerous failures, and the impossi-bility of realizing on their shipments. The merchants of New Ocleans are afraid to forward their consignments to Europe or to the Atlantic ports for fear of capture and ion, and the ruinous rates charged for insurance Our principal agricultural productions being thus de-prived of a market, become reduced in price, and holders and producers suffer ruinous losses. It is not surprising, under this state of things, that many are made bankrupt and that so much embarrassment exists in the commercia

We have not yet felt the effect of this state of things We have not yet fait the effect of this state of things at the South and West, in this city; but there is no possibility of escaping it. This being the grand centre of all the commercial operations of the country, any derangement in trade, in any section, must ultimately be felt here, and the brunt of all losses generally falls upon houses in this city. We trade with the most remote parts. of the Union, and markets are generally found here for the principal products of the country. Credits are fermed and prices regulated by our markets; and whatever, tends to depress the money market of other cities, inva-riably reaches us, and its effects are experienced here with greater severity than anywhere else. The intimate connection existing between this and all other cities of the Union, induces us to think that we have yet to experience a depression much more severe and much more ruinous than we are prepared for or expect; and we fea ruinous than we are prepared for or expect; and we fear the result. The very anticipation of a rupture with Mexico, produced much embarrassment in commer, cial circles, and the reality cannot but increase the evils. It is the uncertainty that hangs over every thing connected with our financial and commercial af, fairs that is deing so much mischief.

It is, perhaps, fortunate for those interested that, for some time pest, there has been no disposition or opportunity for the commercial classes to launch out into any great speculation—it is fortunate that the difficulties we now experience have been so long anticipated, as we have in a measure become prepared to meet them, or there would have been a very different result. Even under these circumstances, we have the greatest fears as to the result; but had credits been much inflated—had our importations been large and our foreign indebtedness greater than usual—had every thing been inflated and prices very much advanced, there would, without doubt, have been scenes similar to those experienced in 1837 and 1838, and a revulsion would have spread through the country, sweeping in its course every vestige of pros-perity, recently so encouraging and so healthy For more than two years, there have been indications of the present state of things, and from time to time checks have been given to business, which, at the mo-ment, were considered unfavorable, but which have proved to be of the most beneficial character, as they served to prevent too rapid an inflation of credits and ex-tension of trade, and keep down that disposition to deviate from the regular course of business so general in this

The annexed tables exhibit the movements in produce at New Orleans this season, compared with the cor-responding period last year, with the quotations at several dates this year, showing the dealine in prices:—

Here is an immense increase in all the most important tems, but we cannot attribute the decline in prices to any excess of supply, as the excess of exports son to the 1st of May, compared with those to the same date last year, has been correspondingly large.

Up to the 1st of May, 1846, there had been no particular ncrease in the stocks of these articles, as it will be seen that the increased exports kept pace with the increased receipts; but since the 1st of May, there has been a fallng off both in receipts and exports, and prices are rapid ly reaching a very low point. Large supplies of these products must be accumulating somewhere, and we be-lieve at points where nothing can be realized upon them. Advances upon consignments at present are entirely out of the question, and the producers of the West must be cramped very much in their resources, as their assets are so locked up as to be almost valueless.

A Race at Mile Heats, for which entries will be made on Monday.
It is altogether likely that another race or two will be made to come off during the two days' meeting. Owing to an accident to Orator, (who injured his shoulder from a sudden stop page of the cars, on the N. J. railroad, in coming from Philadelphia) has stable companion, Ringgold, has been entered in his stead. Ringgold has been named by Col. Johnson, in homor of the late lamented Major Ringgold, the Chevalier Bayard of the U.S. Army. He is a very remarkable colt—as like his sire, Boston, in form, color, and action, as possible. He has never been beaten not only, but has won with east at three and two mile heats. He beat Antoinette, Wilton Brown and Belzebub, at three mile heats, at Baltimore, last week, and the previous week he beat the celebrated Marchioness at Petersburg.

The meeting promises to be one of signal interest, and we expect to see an immense turn out. Races at four mile heats, three mile heats, and mile heats, for each of which three entres have been imade, is an attraction which has rarely been affected in the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 31, 1846. Various Matters and Things.

We have nothing this evening from the Ric Grande; but there is no other expectation than that General Taylor, alias Old Zack, alias Old Rough and Ready is doing up the work "about brown;" for we are in daily expectation of the news of the occupation of Matamoras, the invisibility of the Mexican Parthians, and the indivisi-bility of the little Anglo-Jonathan army of the Rio Bravo, or the Grand River of the North.

There is no river in the world that has a more ordly string of titles than that of our Southern boundary-to wit. : the Rio Bravo, or the Rio Grande, or the Rio Grande del Norte; and from boundary—to wit.: the Rio Brave, or the Rio Grande, or the Rio Grande del Norte; and from all accounts, it is one of the finest streams on the continent—flowing for 2000 miles from the Rocky Mountains, in a south-easterly direction, through a picturesque, populous and fertile country, and fresh to the sea—the swiftest, freshest, and boldest river on the continent, excepting always Old Niagara.

Rev. H. Slicer, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, preached for the Baltimore volunteers at the marine barracks to-day; and he exhorted them like one of the patriarchs of the Revolution. He exhorted them to fight, and to fight like men, and to beware, above all things, of being shot in the back. He said it was a leading principle of Christianity to be ready to stand up, life or death, for our country. He had been himself a soldier, and, though past the vigor of youth, he felt a strong desire to be one again. The man who would not fight for his country was hardly to be trusted in the chances of saving his own soul. In brief, the "boys" said he spoke like a book.

The fact is, Uncle Sam may defy the world. We are invincible. Yet we hope for a speedy peace, because war will retard our advancement, and arrest the progress of the great principle of the age—Free Trade and light taxation.

The Rev. Mr. Tustin's new church, (Presbyterian.) in 8th street, was dedicated to-day. The ceremonies were solemn and impressive, and the congregation largely composed of other denominations.

ceremonies were solemn and impressive, and the congregation largely composed of other denominations.

Hon. D. S. Kauffman, (one of the representatives due from Texas,) and family, arrived in town this evening, and are quartered at Brown's. Col. Kauffman is a native of Cumberland county, Pennsylvania—apparently not over thirty years of age, standing near six feet, clean limbed, and decidedly one of the finest looking members of the House. He was the last Charge from Texas to Washington, but arriving last spring, after the act of annexation, the administration declined to receive him; whereupon he went back, and has returned with the unquestionable diploma to the House, of upwards of a thousand majority.

A word upon another personage. Whatever may have been the abberrations of Gen. Houston in Texas, he has, since his arrival here, been winning golden opinions from all sorts of men—both as a member of the Senate, and as a man. We defy a stranger to talk with him a quarter of an hour without a strong predeliction in his favor, no matter what may have been his pre-conceived opinions

The election of the colleague of the member arrived had been decided upon at the last accounts—the returns not being fully reported from the extent of the district, being over a thousand miles in length, without a railroad or a telegraph

The rush to the National Fair has fairly abated.

The rush to the National Fair has fairly abated. The number of strangers in town to-day does not exceed the ordinary proportion. To-morrow we may expect a strong reinforcement, and we doubt not the intention of lifting the tariff will largely add to the lobby members of the House.

The lady and a son of Sir John Franklin, one of the celebrated English hyperborean navigators, are in the city. Lady Franklin is almost as great a traveller as Sir John himself, and is distinguished no less for her experience as a traveller, than for her personal fascinations. We expect she will remain some time with us, and are satisfied that she has already discovered that the Americans are not the barbarians so uniformly represented by mere speculating British tourists—such, for instance, as Dickens, who writes to make a book sell, even at the cost of truth and gratitude. These pitiful scribblers have done more to alienate the friendship of the American people from the English than all the events of the two wars combined. Commerce has been exerting its powerful influence to the re-establishment of a mutual respect between the two countries; and it will be greatly to the interest of the English, if peace is preserved, to admonish their travelling countrymen hereafter, when they come among us and share our public and private hospitalities, to tell the truth, and not to confine their observations entirely to spit-boxes, low grog shops, and bar-room conversations. We beg pardon of Lady Franklin for these general remarks. "Present company is always excepted."

The Mexican Volunteers-Appointment of Lawyer Wat-son to the Command-Destructive Fire-Robbery-Emigrants-Sons of Temperance-Theatres Closed-Museum-Telegraph-Stock Board, &c

sing five hundred Baltimoreans, will start for the seat of war in a few days. On Saturday, Wm. H. Watson, Esq., s young and distinguished lawyer of this city, received the appointment of Lieut. Colonel of the Regiment, and immediately reported himself to the President as ready for duty. I learn that the volunteers are delighted with the appointment, as Mr. Watson, although a violent politician, is deservedly popular with all classes of our citizens. The members of the bar, on Saturday morning, immediately on hearing of his appointment, raised a subscription for the purpose of presenting him with a sword and spaulettes of the most splendid kind, as an evidence of their esteem.

The lase store of Mr. H. Pulvermacher, was destroyed by fire on Saturday night, with all of its contenta.—His loss is estimated at $16,000, on which the Insurance was only $9,000—$4,000 of which was in the Firemen's office, $2,000 in the Merchants', and $2,000 in the Franklin, of Philadelphia.

The residence of the Rev. John Healey, on Baltimere street, was entered yesterday morning before daylight, and robbed of a variety of silver ware.

The ship Johannes arrived here on Saturday, from Bremen, with 260 German emigrants on board.

The Sons of Temperance of New York may look with confidence for a large delegation of their brethren from this city, on the 9th of June, at their procession and festival. A large number of names are already enrolled.

Our theatres are now all closed, the museum only, under the management of Mr. Barnum of the New York museum, supplying our citizens with a taste of the drama The museum is perpetually open, and always does an excellent business. Miss Alexina Fisher and Mrs. Thayser commence an engagement at this establishment to night, who, with Gallagher, Owens, Johnson, and others, form a capital company.

The telegraph to 'Philadelphia is now daily and momentarily expected to commence operations. The wires over Bush River, which were laid in pipes under the draw of the bridges, is being suspended on poles, and will be completed to-day, the action of the water on the pipes and the wire, it is supposed was the cause of the

Col. The call was made for volunteers; but as the regiment wish to retain their field officers, they would prefer to volunteer in a body, under their present organization. If, however, their proposition is declined in the shape it has been made, it will be repeated by most of the companies in the required form.
